

HIGHWAY DEATH TRAP TO BE REMOVED

HIGHWAY COMMISSION ACTS TO BUILD CURB ALONG THE HIGH-WAY; WILL WIDEN ROAD FROM COLMA TO PALO ALTO.

At last the Highway Commission has moved to have the exceedingly dangerous condition along the state highway from the cemeteries to Colma remedied. Along this stretch of highway for a mile and a half the tracks of the San Mateo line of the Market Street Railroad Company run parallel, and the edge of the highway is within less than two feet of the car track. The result has been twenty-seven deaths here from collisions between autos and electric cars. It has often been suggested that a fence or high curb be constructed between track and highway to keep motorists, confused by darkness or fog, from driving on the tracks, and at a meeting of the Highway Commission in San Francisco Tuesday immediate construction of such a curb was ordered. It will be one and a half miles long and the estimated cost is $10,000, which will be borne jointly by the Highway Commission and the railroad company.

At this meeting another development of tremendous importance was the approval of a plan to widen the state highway from Colma to Palo Alto.

The present width of the highway is twenty-four feet over most of the route, in some places being twenty-eight feet.

It was announced following the meeting that the first part of the work to be undertaken would be the stretch between San Bruno and Burlingame, a distance of 3.2 miles, where the present conditions result in the worst condition of traffic known in the state every Sunday and holiday. Following will be the stretch between San Mateo and Palo Alto, with the exception of the road from Beresford to the limits of Redwood City, which was recently widened by the addition of concrete curbsing two feet wide on each side.

Plans and specifications for the work were ordered prepared by the state engineers immediately, and the commission officially resolved to proceed with the actual work at the earliest possible moment.

THREE CATCH BIRDS WITH NET; FINED $100 EACH

Catching small song birds with a net proved costly to John Matteucci, P. Gomi and E. Bandoni, three San Francisco business men, in Justice of the Peace Ray Griffin's court Thursday morning. The trio were arrested last Sunday at Pedro Valley on the coastside of the county by Deputy Game Warden Jack Burke, M. S. Clarke and L. Sherwood, who found the men with a silk woven net 60 feet long and 16 feet high, stretched across a canyon, and into which they were driving the birds. At the time of their arrest about a dozen small sparrows were found in the net.

The defendants appeared before Justice of the Peace Ray Griffin in Redwood City Tuesday morning, and upon their pleading guilty to the charge of catching song birds, were fined $100 each.

The net, which was confiscated by the court, was made of silk cord and, according to Game Warden Burke, was imported from Italy for the purpose of trapping birds, which are eaten.

TWO MEXICANS COME TO GRIEF IN CITY COURT

Two Mexicans were arrested Sunday by Officer Louis Belloni for reckless driving. In Judge J. G. Walker's court Wednesday morning one, named Juan Monto, was fined $15, while the other, Felix Caverio by name, got off by being put on his good behavior for sixty days. The latter got off easily as he is the father of a large family and in very poor financial circumstances.

SEVEN CONTRIBUTE $2100 TO CITY FUNDS

Sensational Raid Made Saturday Night on Bootleg Joints; Seven Plead Guilty and Pay $300 Each.

The city treasury was enriched $2100 as a result of seven arrests for violation of the Volstead act in this city last Saturday night. The arrests were made by local officers and the fines imposed at a night session of the court of City Recorder J. G. Walker. The developments of Saturday night establishes a record in San Mateo county for the number of arrests made and the aggregate amount of money collected under the Wright act at a single session of a city court. Evidence against the alleged "bootleggers" and "booze peddlers" was collected by the city with the assistance of a San Francisco detective agency.

Those arrested during the raid were as follows:

D. Edwards (colored), alleged proprietor of the De Long Hotel, San Bruno road; Joseph Curdy, proprietor of the Grand Hotel, San Bruno road; Terry McManus, proprietor of the Capitol Hotel, San Bruno road; A. Arselio, proprietor of the Columbus Hotel, San Bruno road; Ernie Galli, proprietor of the California Poolroom, Grand avenue; Charles Finger, proprietor of the Dugout, Grand avenue; and G. Givivissa, proprietor of the Elite Rooming House, Grand avenue.

When brought into court and the evidence produced by the detective agency and by the arresting officers, all the accused pleaded guilty. A fine of $300 was imposed in each case and each fine was paid, after which the little party broke up. The arresting officers were Chief of Police C. C. Conrad, Henry McGraw, Louis Belloni, B. H. Truax and men from the detective agency.

Saturday night's session marked the first cases heard before City Recorder J. G. Walker. Walker was appointed to the position of city recorder Saturday morning, the office having previously been declared vacant by the city trustees at a special session. It is understood that the reason for ousting former Judge E. E. Cunningham from office was that the trustees felt it useless to attempt to enforce the Volstead act in this city while Judge Cunningham imposed only $50 fines on conviction.

Tuesday morning A. Barsuglia and John Colombo were up before Judge Walker on charges of violating the prohibition law. Both men were arrested and given hearings while Judge Cunningham was in office but not sentenced. Desiring to consider the evidence in each case himself, Judge Walker set new hearings for Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Colombo will be defended by J. J. Bullock of Redwood City. It is understood that former City Recorder Cunningham will defend Barsuglia.

CHIEF MURPHY CALLS MEETING OF FIRE CHIEFS

B. H. Truax is today attending a meeting in San Francisco at the office of Fire Chief Thomas R. Murphy. The object of the meeting is the consideration of whether the fire-boats of the San Francisco department will be continued in service. These boats have proven of much value at different times to cities close on the bay and the fire chiefs will make an effort to have them kept in service. Chief Truax, who attends the meeting as official representative of this city, expects to tell the gathering of the very important part one of these boats played in subduing the fire at the Western Pipe and Steel plant here last fall.

SECRETARY PLANNING EMPLOYMENT BUREAU

Secretary S. McCartney of the South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce has announced that he is planning to open an employment bureau in connection with his work here and in cooperation with the Industrial Bureau of San Francisco. Mr. McCartney plans to consider each opening for employment carefully with a view of supplying the right man for the right job. For a while the bureau will specialize in supplying mechanics for factory work.

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO NOW FLOODED IN LIGHT FROM ITS OWN "WHITE WAY"

South San Francisco's new $14,066 street lighting system was lighted up for the first time Wednesday evening, and this city stood bathed in the flood of light from its own "white way." Everybody on the streets Wednesday evening was delighted with the lighting effect. From the Southern Pacific depot to far up on Grand avenue where the system terminates and on cross streets along the way where electrolliers have been placed, the effect was almost that of the light of day.

The new electrollier system, work upon which has been under way for about three months, was made possible by a special assessment district taking in adjacent property along the streets where the lights have been installed. The H. C. Reid Company of Oakland were the contractors doing the construction work. The pillars, about seventy in number, which support the lights are of a cement construction called "marbelite." The original contract called for sixty-two of these lights and pillars, but several more were added by special agreement between contractors and property owners.

The new lighting system is in every way the equal of that of any city the size of South San Francisco in the bay region and this city has every reason to be proud of it.

The new street lights will now be in use every evening.

ELECTROLIER BROKEN

The first of the new electrollier posts to come to grief was wrecked at noon today (Thursday) when a truck belonging to the Virden Packing Company struck one of the two cement posts in front of the bank, breaking it off about a foot above the sidewalk. The truck was heavily loaded, according to witnesses, and a large box or packing case which protruded over the side of the car came in contact with the post when the truck pulled up alongside the curb.

STRANGE BITS OF NEWS FROM HERE AND THERE

C. OF C. TO URGE P. G. & E. TO BUILD

Committee to Suggest New Building on Public Utility; Chamber Urges Taxing Public Billboards.

The South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce would like to see the Pacific Gas and Electric Company put up a building in this city, and at the regular meeting held Tuesday evening of this week the matter was discussed. It was represented as quite possible to get this company to build here as it has in other peninsula towns. E. C. Peck and others speaking on the matter pointed out that the receipts at the local P. G. and E. office were probably greater than at any of the other offices of the company on the peninsula, yet it has built in other towns and not here. As it is known the company is planning to move its offices soon, a committee was appointed to interview officials of the company and urge the building as outlined. E. C. Peck, Dr. F. S. Dolley and I. H. Potter were appointed on this committee.

Vice-President Andrew Hynding presided at Tuesday evening's meeting in the absence of President Dr. F. S. Dolley. This was the first meeting since the new secretary, S. McCartney, has been in office, and Mr. McCartney was present in his official capacity.

A communication from the Peninsula Fair Association, urging that this city take part in the big fair planned for June 3d at San Carlos, was held over pending a decision as to whether the South San Francisco Chamber finds it advisable to arrange an exhibit for this exposition.

NEW POWER LINE TO BE BUILT THROUGH COUNTY

Building of a double transmission line at a cost of $914,000 through San Mateo county by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company is to begin immediately, according to an announcement made by W. T. Kellogg, district manager of the company.

The line, which is to follow the right of way of the present Sierra and San Francisco line, will be more than twenty-four miles in length, extending from Cooley Landing, south of Redwood City, to the Martin substation at Visitation Valley.

It will carry additional power to San Francisco on a double circuit transmission line capable of handling 110,000 volts. Towers for carrying the heavy power wires will be erected on pile and concrete foundations, it was stated by Kellogg.

Crews of men will be started on the work in this vicinity immediately and will be engaged for many months in the project, it was stated.

INCOME TAX EXPERTS AT CITY HALL THIS WEEK

Frank Foppiano and G. B. Risso, income tax experts, were at the city hall in this city Wednesday and Thursday of this week to assist all who desired help in making out their income tax returns. The two men will be in Halfmoon Bay, March 2d and 3d; in Burlingame, March 5th, 6th and 7th; in San Mateo, March 8th, 9th and 10th, and in Redwood City, March 12th, 13th, 14th and 15th. Any person wishing their assistance but failing to meet them here can get their help at any of the other towns named.

CONTEST PAST HALFWAY POINT

ALL CANDIDATES RUNNING IN GOOD FORM; WORK AND WORK
ALONE WILL COUNT FROM NOW TO END OF GREAT RACE.

The Travel Club has now passed the meridian and the members are on the way to the finish. That means that it will take all the time the members can spare to work during the remainder of the time.

The last week of the campaign the advertising cards will make it easier to secure points, and while no votes will be issued at present on these cards all club members may get the promises and the last week they will only have to collect. But remember, these must all be new advertisers.

The campaign will close at 4 p. m., and in that way the people will know before night who are the winners.

It is up to club members and their friends to decide who the winners shall be. Have you made up your mind it shall be you? If so, then do not let a single subscription get by that you might have had. The club manager has seen contests so close that one subscription made the difference between victory and disappointment.

About the only safe way for candidates to do is to gather every possible subscription. Every vote is valuable. Every subscription is a step nearer to a prize. The prediction that the race will be a close one makes it doubly essential that no opportunities be overlooked, now that the final goal is in sight.

On account of the extension of the contest we are offering prize ballots again this week, but they are not so large. These will be the last prize ballots offered during the campaign. Next week the regular schedule of points will prevail, excepting that for new subscriptions the points will be doubled. This does not mean the special points, but just the subscription points. And nothing will count but the new subscriptions on the double vote offer. This is the last special point offer of any kind. After next week the schedule will return to the regular number of points and will not be changed again.

The Prize Ballots

The prize ballots this week will be as follows:

The club member turning in the largest amount of subscriptions this week will receive a ballot for 90,000 extra points; the one securing next to the most, 70,000; the third, 40,000, and the fourth, 20,000. This offer will close at 5 p. m. Saturday, March 3d.

Mrs. Henry Veit continues to hold first place, with Miss Sylvia Haubrich of Colma a close second. Mrs. Ely is third and Eleanor Boyle is fourth. Mrs. M. C. Ferron is fifth, Neal Sullivan sixth and Mrs. Sievers is seventh.

Some of these candidates are starting to reserve a part of their points, which is a wise thing to do, as in that way no one will know just how they stand until after the close of the contest.

Workers Only

All those who have been nominated but who are depending on their friends only will be dropped from the list March 10th. This is only fair to the club members who are working, as many people are holding their subscriptions who would give them to the workers were the other names out, but who do not feel free to subscribe as long as their friends' names remain in the list.

If you wish to win one of the fine prizes you must start to work by March 10th, as after that time it will be too late.

A play will be put on the latter part of May, so the girls are very busy and happy in their work.

ALL CALIFORNIANS SHOULD BE PROUD OF IT

Figures compiled by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce show that city has risen in the last two years from the tenth city in size to fifth position, with only Greater New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and Detroit leading.

Other cities that ranked ahead of Los Angeles two years ago, according to the government census of 1920, were Cleveland, St. Louis, Boston, Baltimore and Pittsburgh. These, according to the estimates just arrived at, have fallen behind Los Angeles all the way from 14,000 to more than 200,000.

In the last two years Los Angeles has added more population than did the combined cities of New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and Cleveland in any two years between 1910 and 1920.

Better yet: During the past two years Los Angeles alone has added more population than did the combined cities of St. Louis, Boston and Pittsburgh during the entire ten years between 1910 and 1920.

"But, surely," said the vicar, "you consider the Ten Commandments, broadly speaking, to be an excellent rule of life?"

"No, I do not," replied the man almost savagely.

The vicar rang his bell. "John," said he to his servant, "show this man to the door and keep your eye on him until he is beyond the reach of my hat and coat in the hall."—London Post.

WHAT HAVE YOU DONE?

Sometimes we hear some thoughtless person make a disparaging remark about this town—and it hurts.

This may not be the best town in the United States, but it is a certainty that there are hundreds of thousands not as good in proportion to population and natural advantages.

When you hear a person kicking his home town, ask him a few pertinent questions.

Ask him why it is not to his liking.
Ask him what he has done to correct the defects of which he complains.
Ask him if he has ever done anything to make it a better town.
Ask him why he continues to live and earn his money here.
Ask him to think it over and see if he is not mistaken in his judgment.

ON THE WRONG FOOT

It makes a difference which foot the shoe is on.
Not a great while ago a subscriber walked into our office and demanded to know why we do not publish all of the news. He referred to a certain matter of an unsavory character.

We have omitted many such spicy stories during the years that we have been in the newspaper game. Possibly we have deprived certain people of the exquisite pleasure of reading them, but we have at the same time saved many a person from unmerited misery and shame, for the sting is felt more keenly by the innocent relatives than by the guilty party.

Some time after the subscriber took us to task, he himself was involved in a similar episode.

This time he did not demand that we publish the facts. Instead, he pleaded with us not to make them public.

The shoe was on the wrong foot.

Stop listening to the croaker who continually paints a picture of ruin. As long as you give heed to him his tongue will wag, and every wag means a jab at the future of this town.

When man himself become infallible it will be time for him to judge of the frailties of women. But until such time let him who is without sin cast the first stone.

There are many rungs to the ladder of life, they are easy to mount for the young man who starts out with a determination to give full value for all he gets.

When you go out to accomplish a thing, remember that success is waiting at the other end. But it will not move toward you.

Do one thing at a time, and do it well. Too many irons spoil the fire, and as a result they all get cold and are difficult to use.

The person who makes a practice of understanding the little things of life seldom has any difficulty in grasping the big ones.

Twenty-Five Perish in Asylum Fire

Twenty-five persons were trapped in and perished, twenty-two of whom were violent cases, in the fire which destroyed the Manhattan State Hospital for Insane at New York City, Feb. 18. The picture shows firemen in the ruins searching for bodies. Insert shows front of structure after fire.

Los Angeles
Nature in generous vein begets hospitality in humans. The far-flung warmth of the unclouded sun has instilled into those present-day people of the open that hospitality which is to the manor born. Every state of the nation and an equal number of foreign nations have contributed their quota to the million population of southern California.

The lover of outdoors may find almost any temperature or sport within the day. A dip in the surf as an appetizer for breakfast may be followed by a luncheon in the orange groves and a fresh-caught trout dinner in the mountains in the evening. From sea bathing to snow is easily obtainable from daylight to dark.

Will you be the winner of this trip?

Saturday afternoon the Ladies' Aid will hold a food sale at Carmody's store. Mrs. A. P. Scott and Mrs. W. H. Coffinberry will be in charge.

There's one consolation, anyway. If we have no coal next winter we won't be bothered with the dust.

Uncle John's Josh

AN OPEN LETTER

Editor The Enterprise: With your permission, I desire to make a statement setting forth the facts which resulted in my summary removal by the board of trustees of South San Francisco as judge of the recorder's court of this city.

My removal was due solely, as I understand it, to a difference of opinion between the trustees and myself regarding the enforcement in this city of the Wright act, or rather of the Volstead law.

My appointment was without my seeking.

I understood that the occupant of a judicial position was independent of other branches of government, whether elected or appointed, and whether the judge of a petty court or the highest in the land.

For twelve months I heard and decided all cases brought before me for trial, all being necessarily misdemeanors.

Then came the Wright act. All offenses under this act and under the Volstead act are simply misdemeanors, the same as other misdemeanors.

When it came to the question of the enforcement by our local courts of this state law for the enforcement of an act of congress, I gave the subject very careful consideration, and in adopting a general rule for penalties, because of the peculiar nature of this combined state and federal law, I fixed the penalty for ordinary cases at about double the penalty for ordinary misdemeanors under the state law. For the first offense under the Wright law I made the penalty $50, or one-tenth of the maximum, with notice to offenders that for each subsequent offense the penalty would be doubled. The charge in these cases was not sale but simply possession, and I considered the penalty amply adequate.

Thereupon, I was called before a special meeting of the city trustees, and, after making a statement of what had been done in the enforcement of the Wright act, was informed by the chairman of the board that the trustees wanted the recorder to impose a fine of $300 for all first cases. To this demand I replied I could not agree to comply, as I regarded such a penalty as unreasonable, and was informed that, upon my refusal to allow the board to fix penalties for me as a police judge, the board would appoint another citizen who would do as the board required.

I declined to take program and was asked to resign, which I refused to do, whereupon the board declared the office of recorder vacant, and immediately re-established the office with another man as recorder.

One of the especial points made by members of the board was that they wanted to make the enforcement of the Wright act "self-sustaining." I call attention to the fact that, under the procedure adopted by me, I collected for the enforcement of the Wright act for the month of February $150, with two cases pending before the court when I was removed.

Very respectfully,

E. E. CUNNINGHAM,
Late City Recorder.

"IGNORANCE NO LONGER BLISS"

It is pretty accurately estimated that over two-thirds of the people who need glasses don't know it.
Some of them find it out in time to avoid serious eye trouble; others, barely in time to escape blindness; and others, too late for glasses to help any.
There is, at this day and time, no more excuse for eye ignorance than for ignorance of any other organs of the body. Eye knowledge is so easily obtainable. H. C. KOOP, Optometrist, Peninsula Drug Co.—Adv't.

Pretty is as pretty paints.

PUBLIC SALES

We have purchased 122,000 pairs U. S. Army Munson last shoes, sizes 5½ to 12, which was the entire surplus stock of one of the largest U. S. Government shoe contractors.

Unearthing $15,000,000. Treasure

World wide interest is focused on the valley of the kings along the Nile in Egypt—where Howard Carter, an American, discovered the tomb of King Tutankhamen for Lord Carnarvon of England. This is last of the tombs of Egyptian kings who ruled four thousand years ago. The treasure is valued at $15,000,000. Native troops are on guard night and day. Upper photo shows natives emerging from the outer tomb with a large blue cabinet containing valuable fabrics. On it were names of king and queen lettered in gold. Lower photo shows wonderful chair being carried from the tomb under guard. All treasures show little effect of time.

SAN BRUNO

Mrs. Ray, Donnelly, Mrs. R. McKenna, Mrs. E. Lewis and Mrs. L. Neumann of San Francisco were the guests of Mrs. H. Madden on Thursday.

Louis Nightingale of Fourth Addition was quietly married to a young lady of San Francisco last Saturday. The newlyweds will occupy the Nightingale home here.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Morton and baby daughter, on their way from Menlo Park to Willits, paid the Marecek family in Fourth Addition a visit on Wednesday of this week.

There will be special services at the St. John's Evangelical Church here Sunday evening, when the new pastor, Rev. A. Engelbrecht, will be installed. Rev. A. Meyer of San Francisco, who organized the congregation several years ago, is to be among those participating in the ceremonies.

GIST OF PROCEEDINGS OF CITY TRUSTEES

The sale of the bonds for improvement work in Third Addition was disposed of.

The board received the court decision in favor of the street improvement proceedings in San Bruno Park. Work is to start at an early date.

A petition bearing sixty-six signatures of residents of Fourth Addition, praying for street improvements in that section, was received and machinery set in motion to bring about the desired results.

A building permit was granted Contractor Gouzenes to erect a dwelling in Fourth Addition and one to J. M. Suparich for a workshop in the rear of his premises in Belle Air Park.

A request by the Pacific Milling Company to be exempt from paying the regular vehicle license fee to operate in San Bruno was denied.

The complaint of Mrs. Krysiak, of long standing, relative to the unsightly conditions on premises adjoining her home in Third Addition, was turned over to the board of health for adjudication.

Right of way for a storm sewer through a number of lots in Huntington, in connection with the impending improvement work in that section, was granted by R. H. Smith.

Specifications for curbs, gutters and sidewalks in part of Huntington Park were adopted, also a resolution establishing the grades. An entirely new sewerage system for Huntington Park is included in the improvement proposals.

The Spring Valley Water Company was requested to lower its flumes at the Cabin bridge, pursuant to the widening of same and the construction of an underground passageway at that point, as proposed by the State Highway Commission.

The electrical ordinance passed first reading and the tree ordinance, designed to protect the trees now being planted in the parking strips, received its second reading.

The letter of the water commission relative to proposals to rehabilitate the water system, was referred to the city engineer, he to report back to the board at the next regular meeting.

TONE IN "AFRICAN WIRELESS"

Matter That Has Long Baffled Europeans Seems to Have Been Cleared Up by Discovery.

Just at the time when the British are expecting authorization of their own wireless broadcasting, the secret of African "wireless"—the drum messages that have baffled the curiosity of travelers, explorers and big game hunters ever since they have known of it—has been discovered.

Everyone who has traveled in Africa has listened with a thrill to the drums of the natives rolling and tapping off a message to a distant village, which in turn sends it on. The message may be anything, a social announcement, a dance invitation or a tribal call to arms for war. That these messages are accurate has been proved time and again.

Always there has been an astonishing accuracy about native messages sent in this way, and the natural conclusion was that they used a code. This, indeed, was the general conclusion. But it is not so. The man who has discovered the secret, a well-known African explorer, tells the writer that the drum messages are tonic. That is they depend on tone. He has brought home to England the complete tone system.—Chicago American.

CAME IN JOHNNY'S ABSENCE

Small Boy Had Been Expecting That Baby, and It Arrived While He Was Visiting.

Johnny's parents lived in the country. He was the only child, and being too young to attend school, got very lonely.

He often expressed the wish for a baby brother, and, hearing of the arrival of a new baby at his aunt's, indignantly demanded why the baby had not been left at his house.

His mother told him it was because his aunt had more clothes for the baby than she had, as most of his baby clothes were worn out, but promised him to be prepared and, when the doctor had another baby to leave in their neighborhood, he would leave it at their house. Several weeks passed, and Johnny's father took him to his grandmother's to spend the day. Toward evening his grandmother told him that his father wished to speak to him on the phone.

After talking a few minutes Johnny dropped the receiver and cried excitedly: "It's come! I've got a baby brother! We had the most clothes, so the doctor left it at our house. I've been expecting that baby for a long time, and the first time I go visiting, here it comes."—Indianapolis News.

Carry Mine's Output Through Tunnel.

An eastern coal company, in opening up three new mines, situated close together, was confronted with the problem of transporting the output to a river four and a quarter miles away, with steep and rugged hills intervening. A railroad around the hills or one through appeared to be too expensive in first cost and in operation, so it was decided to bore a small tunnel through the hills and convey the coal on a series of belts, as shown in the Popular Mechanics Magazine.

The distance of four and a quarter miles, in which there is a rise of 300 feet, will be made with 20 conveyors in series, each delivering the coal to the one ahead. At the loading end, the belt will be five feet wide for receiving the coal direct from the mine cars as they are hoisted up the shaft, and will carry the coal 1,500 feet to the next conveyor, which will be four feet wide. The unloading belt at the river will be four feet wide, and will deliver to four or six other belts, which discharge the coal through chutes into barges.

Had Nothing Like That.

One of those affluent persons who can afford to go to Scotland for a little look around brings back the following story:

"I was being shown the sights of Edinburgh. At each, apparently wonderful to the Scotchman who was acting as my guide, I guess I scoffed. Finally, as the sun was going down, he took me to the brow of a hill and pointed to three smokestacks, belching forth smoke.

"That's nothing compared to what we have in Pittsburgh, or Gary, in my down state, or any number of cities in the United States, Douglas," I said. "Ah, my friend," he said, "those are the smokestacks of three breweries."

Cardboard Lighthouse.

On the beach of southern California, says Ship News (San Francisco), is a lighthouse made of cardboard. There is not a stone or a girder of steel in it.

"To look at it from a distance, or even close up, one would never surmise that it was made of paper-box material. It is the only structure of its kind known. It also performs a most important service—in making movies. The torn rock shore on which it stands has been made picturesque by it."

Needs a Nail.

A cycling "nut" was riding along when his hat blew off. A passing countryman picked it up and took it to him as he circled around, saving him the trouble of getting off his machine.

The yokel's reply was short, but expressive: "Get a nail, guv-nor."—Pearson's Weekly.

Richard Lloyd Jones tells

ABOUT TOWN BUILDING

WHEN Chicago burned, its bankers and builders were in despair, until its leading real estate operator, who at the time was in California, was reached by wire with the question, "What shall we do?" The one word answer came back, "BUILD." It was that faith in the future that remade the inter-ocean metropolis.

Every city is as great as the faith of its staunchest citizens. No greater. The real asset of a city is not its past but its future.

Complacency is as deadly to a community as to an individual. The town that waits to be discovered has hardly a gambler's chance of growth. The town that has discovered itself has opened future's door to greatness. The city that would find for itself a future must utilize the NEW and not the old. Each age demands improvement on the past.

The merchant who so respects ancient methods that he ignores the newest ideas in merchandising, must lose his lead to the merchant who is eager to employ the last in salesman efficiency.

The town that holds fast to obsolete ideas and ideals surrenders supremacy. The community that expects to fall by accident into industrial greatness through no effort of its own, has a child-like faith in modern miracles, and has as little chance of its hope's fulfillment as has the youth who, by wishing, would see the river change to honey.

The wish is worthless without the will. Imagine tion precedes the architect's pencil in its course, but the mason must follow that tracing ere the castle in air is anchored to earth.

Ethical laws are as essential to life and the growth of things as physical laws. The tower unfolds according to a well-ordered plan. Town problems are merely the common problems of individuals. The town that is without plan and purpose, without ideas and ideals, is as colorless and as hopeless as the individual who lacks these attributes, as the mason without blueprints before him.

The town that permits selfish interests to outplay common interests, that allows personal wants to warp community ideals, and low aims to thwart high aims, handicaps its chances of being bigger and better.

Many minds are wiser than one mind. We create instruments of government, develop boards of commerce and clubs dedicated to civic interests to pool the intelligence of thinking minds. Secure is the town whose destinies are carved out by the common judgment of minds, endowed with the enthusiasm of common sense.

The satisfied mind wants nothing, does nothing, accomplishes nothing. But the mind that is obsessed with a wholesome unrest is likely to bless the world with benefits.

So with the town. The community that is eager to be better is destined to be bigger, healthier, wealthier and wiser.

HONEY PHILOSOPHY for 1923

If you have a dollar and you take off ten per cent you have ninety cents left. If you put ten per cent back again, however, you haven't got your dollar back again. You've got ninety-nine cents. One cent has vanished in the operation of tearing down and building up. You can bank on it whenever you begin to monkey with something one hundred per cent strong you're going to suffer somehow. It's all very well to tear down before you build up, but it's best to be sure that the thing you attack can be improved. Tearing down before the plan of rebuilding is well in mind is a risky business. Watch your step. Better keep on building. The useless things wither away of their own account.

poem by UNCLE JOHN

With all of the rubbish that litters our minds, we only endure the impossible kinds; there's some that blows in, with the dust of the day, but it's never much trouble to bresh 'em away. . . . There's other afflictions that do us to death; they sizzle our whiskers and shorten our breath—and the geezer in front of the villainous clan.

THE MENACE is what we may term "the impossible man."

The wisdom of sages is stored in his bean—he's the knowngest critter that ever was seen. . . . He's allers around where there's nothin' to do,—discussin' religion and politics, too! He can periscope, publish, and piffle, and plan—this most super-human, impossible man. . . . He's full, to the muzzle, of virulent gall, and generally fights with his back to the wall—for no one endorses his militant jazz—if any one did it he's sorry he has,—we're sick of his bombast, and babble, and bosh—he ort to be sent to the Senate, begosh!

A ONE dollar bill and a twenty dollar bill are the same to a blind man—yet the difference is marked to the man who can see—and it's only a difference in printing. It is the way printing is done and the idea back of it that makes it worth more or less.

Try the Enterprise the next time you want printing. You'll be pleased with the result.

Indian Lodge Tales

THE LEGEND OF THE BIRDS AND THE BEASTS

NOW when the Manitou had created the earth and the mountains by pouring dirt and rock through a hole in the sky, he was much pleased with his handiwork. So he rested for many days and lived on the earth, and rejoiced in the trees and the green grass and the rivers and the lakes which his strength had created.

But by and by he became lonely and wished for some living thing to enjoy the beauty with him, and his heart was sad, for there was none to share his treasure and none to whom he could turn for comfort and for pleasure. So he set about to create living creatures who might inhabit the world and make it more beautiful with their presence.

He returned to Heaven and took his staff, and with his staff he went back again to the earth which he had formed. From the small end of his staff he fashioned the fishes—big ones and little ones, of various sizes and various shapes. And when he formed them he breathed upon them the breath of life and placed them in the streams; and when they were put in the water they swam away, and so were the fishes created.

Then the Manitou went to the forests, and here he picked from the ground great handfuls of dry leaves which had been cast there by the wind. These he blew into the air and there they floated and flew, and wings and feathers came to them and from that time on the birds were made to live upon the earth. And from the leaves of the oak were the larger birds—the eagles, and the ravens, and the hawks—created; and from the aspen leaves came the red bird and the jay. And each leaf made its own bird, and each tree its own kind, and the woods were filled with the music of the birds when they sang.

From the middle of his staff the Manitou created the beasts—the antelope and the bison, the rabbits and the squirrels, the coyote and the wolf, and the sheep and the fox—and these he set down upon the earth also, and some went to the plains and some to the mountains, and some lived in the forests and some among the rocks, and so were the beasts created.

But when the Manitou had made all these and had paused to rest from his labors, they straightway fell to fighting and the big killed the little, and the strong attacked the weak, and the rivers and woods were red with the blood of the beasts which the Manitou had made. And the Manitou, when he saw the battle and saw the creatures killing and being killed, was sick at heart.

So he decided to create some other living creature, imbued with his own strength and his own wisdom; and this creature he decided would be set down upon the earth to rule the others and to make the laws and the rules, and to see that the beasts ceased their killing and lived in peace and harmony together as he desired.

So from the big end of his staff he fashioned the grizzly, and him he set down at the foot of the great mountain, and gave to him strength and wisdom to govern the world. And the grizzly was master of all the others, and interpreted to them the words and the desires of the Manitou.

When the Manitou had created the grizzly then he returned again to his home in heaven and left the beasts behind to inhabit the world which he had created.

So was the creation of the beasts and the birds and the fishes and all living things—except the red men, who came later and who were born through the anger of the Manitou with the grizzly and his tribe. But that is another story of another time which is told by the wise men of the tribe, and which shall be told later.

Note—The material of this legend also comes from the Ute or Mohochi tribe, and is clearly connected with the legend of the creation of the world. It was obtained by the writer from Buckskin Charley, last of the great Ute chiefs and ward of the great Ouray, who was the ruling chief of the mountain tribes at the time of the white settlement of Colorado and New Mexico.

Crow Haunts Railways.
The London Morning Post says that an engine driver who is a keen naturalist asserts that the crow frequents railways more than any other bird. He haunts embankments and cuttings, but is particularly partial to the "four-foot" because of the grease and oil that are always to be found on the line. An express train will frequently run against and kill various other kinds of bird, but it rarely hits a crow.

Damages Asked.
"You say this man means nothing to you?"
"Nothing whatever," replied the fair plaintiff, haughtily.
"If it please your honor," interrupted her lawyer, "he has a certain financial value to her and we propose to show that it is approximately $50,000."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

WASTE OF TIME AND MONEY

Why One Young Chicago Matron Has Had Her Phone Taken From the Party Line.

The inconvenience of a party line telephone was amusingly illustrated in the home of a young couple in the suburbs not long ago, relates the Chicago Journal.

The telephone instrument for some reason was located in a large closet. A hard shower came up suddenly while the six-year-old son was at kindergarten, and as it was near closing time and Bobby was all unprepared for rain his mother went to the telephone to order a taxi to call for him. Much to her annoyance, when she took down the receiver she heard unmistakable indications of a lengthy conversation: "Take a cup of sugar, two eggs . . ." but rather than lose her opportunity of putting in her call as soon as the conversation ceased she remained in the closet. Impatiently she waited, taking down the receiver at short intervals, only to hear: "Then bake in a slow oven . . ." and "No, this recipe never fails. I always use it . . ." but was finally rewarded by hearing the final "Goodbye, call me up again when we can have time for a long visit." After at last giving her order to the taxi man she emerged from the closet hot and cross, only to find that the sun was shining brightly. Ten minutes later up drove Bobby in state, all smiles and enthusiasm at his unexpected treat. That was the last straw. The telephone still remains in the closet, but the party line is no more.

POOR REWARD FOR BRAVERY

Evidently the Police in Some Parts of France Have Queer Notions and Are Not Strong on Common Sense.

Passengers on the Bordeaux-Cette express in France were saved from a holdup by a masked bandit owing to the pluck of a railroad man who happened to be traveling on the train. Feigning sleep he waited until the bandit was leaning over him. Then suddenly he pulled a revolver and covered the outlaw, who was then disarmed and arrested by the passengers. The latter were surprised to learn next day that this smart act is being rewarded by a fine of one franc and the confiscation of the revolver—the local police authorities having found nothing better to do than prosecute for the possession of firearms without a license. To this must be added a sum of about fifty francs for the legal costs of the case.

It seems that the local police who would not have caught the bandit in a score of years, have few cases in which they can prosecute and are glad to jump at every opportunity to show their zeal.

Women Won't Eat Standing.

"Women are making a howl about their rights, and they are doing right well in their efforts to be men," remarked the old grouch, "but they are not taking full advantage of their opportunities. They are smoking cigarettes and rolling their own, they have their shoes shined in regular shine parlors, they run their own automobiles—those who have 'em—they wear wrist watches and they carry fountain pens that won't write. But they are overlooking the right to eat vertically. They refuse to stand up while they inhale their soup and imbibe their pastry. Go into these restaurants that have stand-up tables and look for a woman tackling her food in a vertical position. She just isn't. She never will be entirely emancipated until she can eat and run without getting up."

A Faithful Sexton.
"It may be questioned," says a southern man, "if important personages derive as much satisfaction from their greatness as do some lesser holders of authority that magnify their office. In my town there is an amusing old colored sexton, a most efficient one, too, who is a very odd character."

"About a month after the coming of a new minister to his church he was met in the street by an old parishioner who asked:
"Well, Moses, how is the new minister going to do?"
"Oh," said Moses, "we is gittin' him into shape by degrees."

Would Sacrifice Tooth for Dime.
Carroll had a tooth pulled and through some miraculous agency known only to mothers and fathers that tooth placed under his pillow at night had turned into a silver dime.

Not many days later Carroll presented himself at his father's office and demanded that another tooth be pulled. Upon father's refusal Carroll grew insistent and finally between sobs of grief he explained:

"Walter hasn't any kite, and kites cost 10 cents at the book store, and I wanted you to pull my tooth so I could put it under my pillow tonight, and then in the morning I would have a dime and could buy Walter a kite."

Unanimous.

In one of the towns of the Pacific coast a distinct earthquake shock was felt recently, and when the municipal building rocked perceptibly the city fathers, then in session, left without bothering about the usual formulas.

The clerk, a man of rules and regulations, was hard put to it to give his minutes the proper official tone. Finally he evolved this masterpiece:

"On motion of the city hall, the council adjourned."—The American Legion Weekly.

CO-OPERATION

That word not only applies to the business world, but to school as well. Co-operation is needed in the class rooms, athletic teams, and the whole school in general.

A teacher expects co-operation from her class; so does an editor expect co-operation from the representatives who are supposed to make the paper a success.

What is a house without a foundation, and what is an editor without the proper backing from his representatives and the school?

LOW JUNIORS HAVE CANDY SALE

At 12 o'clock the low juniors had the table in the hall filled with candy and by 10 minutes to 1 all the candy was gone. (Fast work.)

The candy was made by Miss Harbar's cooking classes, and some of the low juniors stayed after school Monday to finish the candy. Chocolate fudge, divinity fudge, pinoche and suckers were made and sold. The profits were about $13.

Boomerang!

"So on her account you gave up smoking?"

"Yes, sir."

"And you don't drink now because she doesn't like you drinking?"

"Yes, sir."

"And for the same reason you no longer swear?"

"That's it, sir."

"And you no longer go to dances or play billiards or bet?"

"Because she didn't like me to."

"Then why on earth didn't you marry her?"

"Because I was so reformed that I saw I could do better."—Everybody's Magazine.

"TOLERANCE VS. INTOLERANCE"

Will be the subject for address by Rev. Asa P. Beall next Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock in St. Paul's M. E. Church. It is a big question and leads to some startling conclusions.

It will be a running debate, contending pro and con. Much can be said on either side. Which side is yours? Better hear this discussion. At 11 a. m., same place, same day, Mr. Beall will give an address upon "Great Souls." It is a big subject and should be uplifting and inspirational. Every one will find most cordial welcome at St. Paul's M. E. Church.

SUFFERED WITHOUT A GROAN

Almost Unbelievable Story of Fortitude Exhibited by Mortally Wounded Sioux Indian Brave.

American Horse—a splendid example of the Sioux, stalwart, broad-chested and imperious—had been shot through the abdomen and his intestines were protruding from the wound. But his wife hastened to him and wrapped a shawl about his middle to hold them in.

With never a word of complaint he walked the distance to a camp fire and sat down. It was some little time, says Adventure Magazine, before the surgeons tending the wounded, white and red, reached him. An operation was necessary. American Horse declined chloroform in the tepee to which he had been removed. He had his own palliative. He spoke a few words to his wife, who scuttled out and returned with a short piece of hard wood. This he thrust between his teeth; he motioned the surgeons to proceed.

During the terrible work upon him the sweat stood out upon his forehead, he bit deeply into the stick, but he uttered never a groan, nor did he flinch. As he well knew, the wound was mortal; but he insisted upon sitting up, until just before dawn, he fell back—he died as silently as he had suffered. He was man and Indian to the end.

The annals of the plains are filled with heroism, but there is no instance more striking in bare simplicity and naked fortitude than this end of American Horse, who fought the good fight and lost.

BREAKFASTS, BIG AND LITTLE

Really Makes Little Difference, Provided Requisite Amount of Exercise Is Taken.

Hearty breakfasts are recommended after being frowned on by many dietitians for long. Appetite, like conscience, was whispering the truth all the time. And those who "basely yielded and distended their rosy morning cheeks with wads of sirup-dripping buckwheat cakes and gobs of ham and eggs, went right on keeping those rosy cheeks; while the pale flowers of abstinence who niggardly and dolefully lifted to their sad mouths the breakfast provender irrigated with skim milk, grew no less pale if not more so.

One must interject distinctly here, that the robust and rosy, also made their muscular activity consume the heavy fuel their appetites demanded; for a generous breakfast should not be coddled by a whole day in an easy chair or even in a swivel one.

Eat what you like, but hike, hike. "Shall I be carried to the skies on flowery beds of ease?" Precisely that is where one will be carried quite promptly by heavy meals and no exercise.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Fire Truck Has Four-Wheel Drive.

Fire-fighting apparatus has been improved upon to the extent of equipping large trucks with individual motor drives in each wheel and raising or lowering the ladders by air and hydraulic pressure, says an illustrated article in Popular Mechanics Magazine. The current for the driving motors is supplied from powerful storage batteries which are suspended beneath the frame of the vehicle. An air compressor, driven by a gasoline engine, is incorporated in the outfit and furnishes the necessary elevating power for the heavy ladders, the lowering of these being accomplished with the aid of oil brakes, or compression cylinders. The action of the ladders is so simple that but one man is required to operate them.

Ethics of Odd Jobs.

That a code of ethics exists among men of all work was discovered recently by a Woodlawn householder who hired a man to beat her rugs. She had seen the man loading on the corner and asked him if he wanted a job. He said he was a truckman, and that he received 75 cents an hour when employed. He was engaged to beat the rugs at that figure. Finishing with the rugs, the householder asked him if he would put in three or four more hours scrubbing the kitchen floor. He certainly would not, although he needed the money. That was woman's work, he said, and he did not do it even at home. His wife had to do that.—Exchange.

Canada Wars on Beavers.

Beavers have become so destructive along the St. Lawrence river that owners of islands in Canadian and United States waters have been given permission by the Dominion government to exterminate them on the Canadian side of the boundary.

An experienced trapper has been engaged for the season and will make his headquarters on Dillingham's island.

Beavers have not been seen along the St. Lawrence before in a quarter of a century. They are protected by game laws on the New York side of the river.

Pay for Nonsuccess.

Paying up cost unsuccessful candidates at the recent British election something like $35,000. England has a law which requires a man who puts himself forward for parliament before he has enough popular esteem to get one-eighth of the votes cast in his district to forfeit the sum which amounts to approximately $700 in our money. More than fifty candidates suffered the forfeiture in the November election.—The Nation's Business.

COLMA MAN COMES BACK; CHARGES EXTORTION ATTEMPT

Lee R. Herbert, former automobile salesman of Colma, filed a complaint in the San Francisco courts Tuesday charging attempted extortion by Miss Dorothy Koch and Miss Marie Withrow, former follies girl at the New York Winter Garden, now living in San Francisco.

Miss Koch recently caused the arrest of Herbert on a charge of kidnapping. She alleged that he brought her from Los Angeles by force and held her prisoner in his room at a

San Francisco hotel. Miss Withrow, chum of Miss Koch, testified against Herbert. The case was dismissed in a San Francisco police court.

Herbert now alleges that the girls attempted to "shake him down" for $100, and made verbal threats against him when he refused to pay over the money.

Reforming, like charity, should begin at home.

The Man Who Signs Must Make Good

A responsible man puts his name to a piece of paper and it becomes a check—the equivalent of money.

He signs his name on the back of another piece of paper and it becomes an endorsed note—good for money.

He writes a letter and it becomes a binding contract.

The adding of the name makes these things solemn and legal.

The man who signs is responsible.

Just so with an advertisement—the moment a man signs his name to it he has made a pledge to the public.

He is bound by his word as much as if he signed a check or a note. He must do what he promised on the terms he promised.

If he does not, he courts business disaster. The man who advertises a lie publicly proclaims himself a liar. Such men are seldom in business but frequently in asylums.

It is safer to buy advertised articles than nondescript ones. It is safer to deal with merchants who advertise than with those who do not.

An advertisement is a signed pledge of good faith to the public.
